General

Payment is accepted as a full payment of the total amount or as a non-refundable enrolment fee (20% of annual tuition fee, payable upon enrolment) followed by monthly debit order payments, depending on the product, until the fee is paid in full. Accounts must be settled by November of the relevant academic year.

The tuition fee excludes only the following:

- Examination fees (such as third-party fees, for example an IEB fee)
- Study material (either e-books or hardcopy books)
- Ad-hoc administrative costs (on-demand), such as subject changes or accommodation applications
- Practical examination fees (for selected subjects) such as Consumer Studies and Life Sciences
- Special requirements such as A3 printing for EGD, certain paper-based assessments which may need to be printed, drawing instruments, possible practical item requirements for selected subjects.
- Fees relating to specialized assessment and/or invigilation requirements

COMPREHENSIVE product: Payment structure

The tuition fee of the COMPREHENSIVE product consists of a non-refundable enrolment fee and fixed monthly payments, which depend on when you enrol. Because we provide full access to the entire years' academic resources, class recordings etc, later enrolment does not permit for a reduced tuition fee.

However, a discount is automatically included in the tuition fee should a learner enrol later in the year: At least 10% for enrolment in April to June, and at least 20% for enrolment in July to September.

Price comparison: COMPREHENSIVE vs EXPRESS

This comparison shows the fees of our COMPREHENSIVE product with our EXPRESS product on its own, and the EXPRESS product with Report2Go, the optional final examination for which a learner can enrol to obtain a valid end-of-year report.
